

As a resident of a small market in Northern California I support the Echostar/Hughes merger because it will give me more choices for both broadband services and television services. I believe this merger will allow those of us in rural communities to access services normally reserved for large urban areas.